

About

Thank you for your interest in Digital Wordsmithing. We here at Digital Wordsmithing strive to provide our clients with an experience and service that is unparalleled in its convenience and results. We are a consulting firm that edits and composes text, with a focus on videogames and videogame-related material, to ensure that even the smallest title from Hungary will be as easy to understand and enjoy as one developed in California.

Even the most experienced companies can overlook something as simple as sentence structure or proper grammar, which in turn can blemish that multimillion-dollar title. Trying to crack the English-speaking markets can prove to be a daunting task, but those who are looking to make a name for themselves with their latest adventure, action or strategy game can use our services to feel a little more relaxed knowing that their title will be given the care it deserves and presented in the way it should be.

Our firm also gladly assists companies based out of English-speaking markets, ensuring their titles receive the greatest possible amount of textual polish. Localization firms and companies with localization departments will benefit from an eased workload, enabling them to focus on other pressing concerns. Digital Wordsmithing can be involved in as little or as much of a product as necessary, from editing a single press release to going through in-game text line by line.

Using an 'expanded' system, Digital Wordsmithing is able to pick from a pool of editors as needed to ensure that your project is finished on time. With a hands-on manager and Project Director, our company can assure thematic consistency throughout your entire project. Regular updates, if desired, provide the client with a snapshot of the progress and the project's current state. We regularly offer introductory offers to prove that our service provides the kind of quality assurance that management needs and your titles deserve.

Digital Wordsmithing has worked on some of the most acclaimed series in gaming, with clients located in Hungary, Germany, the United States, Sweden, and Russia. Let us add your next title to our growing portfolio.

Services

Digital Wordsmithing will edit and/or create:

- In-game text
- Advertisements and other marketing materials (Fact and Sell Sheets, Box Materials, etc.)
- Press releases
- Manuals
- Web pages
- Misc. documents (ReadMe files, F.A.Q.s, etc.)
- Scripts (for voice-over work)

All work includes trackback changes and, if necessary, comments. These comments will be used for clarification and to offer suggestions. We can check with the client as much or as little as required, and can take as few or as many liberties as necessary. It's all up to you.

Price

We pride ourselves on our turnaround time and quality. As a result, many of our projects are on a quote basis. For those companies who need strict edits in a timely fashion, we charge around .10 a word. Please send us information on your project and we will determine what services fit you best. Here are some examples of our work and the prices charged:

Knights of Honor	Frontline: Fields of Thunder	A.I.M. 2: Clan Wars
- 3 Days - $2,500 - Edited manual, press releases, marketing rationale, fact and sell sheets. - Assisted in creating box text and design.	- 5 days - $3,500 - Edited manual, press releases, fact and sell sheets, and marketing rationale. - Edited in-game World War II Encyclopedia.	- 10 days (Client's experimental proprietary text-editing software used.) - $5,000 - Edited instructions, manual and in-game text with creative license to smooth out the dialogue, quests, item descriptions and story.

General Information

E-Mail: info@digital wordsmithing
.com

Phone:
1 + 337 263
3294

Address
P.O. Box 5032
Lake Charles,
LA.
70605

Manager,
Ryan Newman

Project
Director,
Nick Stewart